

Dear Camp Brosius guests and friends:

I started working for Indiana University nearly two years ago. To be honest, during my interviews, I couldn't fully appreciate the family camp appeal or envision how a camp 300 miles away from the IUPUI campus would be worthwhile to the school's students. However, I came to the school with an open mind.

I also explored the Camp Brosius experience with our students and faculty. Together, we made some revisions to the IUPUI student camp. Our new leadership-development and team-building Brosius experience staged this past May is receiving rave reviews from our students and faculty. We think we have a package so attractive, students from other IU schools won't want to miss it.

As the Dean of the school that manages camp, I wanted you to know that Camp Brosius has my full attention and support. I plan to continue the good work of family camp started by the IU Alumni Association in the 1970s that transitioned to my school a little more than six years ago.

But most of all, I plan to support and thank each of you. You are the heart and soul of Camp Brosius. Together, we will work to nurture the Brosius spirit for many years to come.

Thank you for all that you do.

With gratitude,

Jay^lGladden

Dean, IU School of Physical Education and Tourism Management Indiana University-Purdue University Indianapolis (IUPUI)

Camp Brosius: It's all about you!

Camp is changing with the times, thanks in large part to its most important asset: you.

Volunteers

Every year, groups of individuals like you come together to help us close—and open—the camp. Volunteers help reduce operational costs. Furniture is moved, heavy laundry loads and boats stored, shutters cover windows, and everything is thoroughly cleaned and put away for the hard Elkhart Lake winters.

During those weekends, volunteers perform other tasks such as unloading and assembling semi-trucks full of new furniture, replacing screens and renovating smaller spaces. This year was no different. The men's counselor area above the dining hall was completely renovated during the fall and spring. This involved several hours of sweat equity, invested by family camp guests, school and camp faculty and staff, and Brosius friends.

Thank you to those who volunteer annually.

Guests

Family camp operations continue to be self-sustaining as mandated in 2004 by the Indiana University Board of Trustees and the transition to the IU School of Physical Education and Tourism Management (Indianapolis campus) camp oversight. Specifically, this means that family camp activities and operations are paid for by guest registration fees. During the last few years, despite the economy, you keep coming back and introducing new guests to Camp Brosius.

Thank you for your continued patronage, and for inviting your friends and family to camp.

Annually, volunteers help open and close camp, as well as replace screens, assemble and move furniture, and renovate small spaces.

Donors and Friends

As you might imagine, property upkeep remains a challenge. The reality is that registration fees do not fund beyond daily operations. This means the work we have accomplished and still need to do must come from other sources. Budget managers are striving to incorporate a $50,000 annual maintenance line item into the operating budget. Based on history, this is the projected annual cost for property upkeep beyond capital improvements.

As you know, during the last five years, several capital improvements have occurred. These include:

- All rustic cabins and public restrooms
- Sputh Round House and Inn
- Stecher, Hickory and Kellum House, and some aspects of other cottages
- Steichmann and Alumni Halls
- Rath Hall and the Dining Hall have new windows
- Several unseen kitchen and utility upgrades

These renovations collectively exceeded $1.25 million. A portion was funded by the IU School of Physical Education and Tourism Management, with the intent that donations eventually would replenish the school's expenses. The balance was funded by philanthropic individuals such as you and the generosity of a few Elkhart Lake-area family foundations and businesses.

Thank you for your financial gifts.

Immediate Needs

As we look to better serve guests and prolong the life of existing buildings, we need to raise enough money to complete capital improvements to the following buildings: Row's End, Rappaport, Kin Koop, and the Annex.

Estimated renovation costs are nearly $300,000 for these projects combined.

The office foundation and structure are not salvageable according to university architects, who follow Elkhart Lake regulations and guidelines regarding structural improvements. Plans include construction of a director quarters and garage relocation to create office space. Anticipated costs for demolition and new construction exceed $225,000.

Lastly, to help your children and the community better enjoy Camp Brosius, we would like to update the playground. Estimated costs are $77,000, which involves demolition and new equipment installation.

Long-term Goals

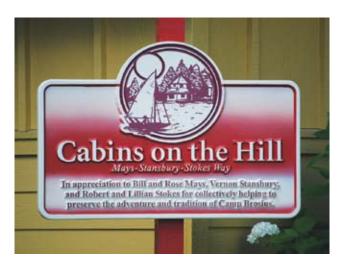

When these projects are complete, the school would like to create a maintenance endowment to fund future capital projects. To achieve $50,000 in annual investment earnings, which will cover annual property upkeep and provide for future renovations, $1,000,000 is our goal.

Thanks to those of you who will help in the future.

Bill Mays leads giving by example. He inspires his friends to contribute. He also educates and develops the next generation of philanthropists.

Donors

The following donors are transforming the landscape of Camp Brosius through financial contributions. Every gift is important, and we appreciate and thank each of you!

*Giving is cumulative cash and/or pledges from January 2006 to June 2011.

Camp Brosius neighbors and friends from Elkhart Lake stage annual dinner fundraisers to help with camp renovations. Many also contribute annually beyond the dinner proceeds.

Donors like Frank and Margaret Feigl are paving the way for their grandchildren's children to enjoy camp through their planned gift to Camp Brosius.

Milford and Margaret Christenson are making significant investments in Camp Brosius, paving the way for future generations of Brosius families.

or continuing your support is easy.

Contribute today!

You can make a gift in any amount online today at www.campbrosius.com. Or, you may send a check payable to Camp Brosius Renovations to 901 West New York Street, PE 272B, Indianapolis, IN 46202.

Make a greater impact!

Room, cabin, and area naming opportunities are available. These start at $5,000 (payable over five years).

Some people have the ability to contribute these amounts in a lump sum. Most prefer to give over time or to invest in rooms or spaces as families. Some have joined together to honor deceased loved ones who appreciated Brosius. Others give in honor of their children and grandchildren, contribute as guest groups, or share their gifts anonymously.

Contact Laura Klaum, Iklaum@iupui.edu or 317/274-1484, to structure a longer-term family, group or cash contribution that is meaningful and affordable for you.

Create your future legacy!

Planned gifts, such as ones left through a will or life insurance policy, also are perfect ways to provide for camp's future. It keeps your cash in hand now, but leaves a legacy for camp later. It can be as simple as providing this paragraph to your attorney:

What it's all about: ensuring the camp experience for future generations.

"I give, devise, and bequeath the (sum of, percentage of, or residue of my estate) to Indiana University Foundation (Tax ID # 35-6018940), a not-forprofit corporation with principal offices located in Bloomington, Indiana, for the benefit of the School of Physical Education and Tourism Management, IUPUI campus, to benefit Camp Brosius."

Your attorney and school staff may assist you with additional language if needed. Be sure to notify camp management of your intent so that your precise wishes are understood and fulfilled by camp when the gift is distributed.

For more specific assistance with gift language or planned gifts, contact Estacia Brandenburg, esmbrand@iupui.edu or 317/278-5653.

Thanks again for all you do for Camp Brosius!
